
Return-Path: <Johndove6@gmail.com>

X-SpamCatcher-Score: 1 [X]

Received: from [136.167.40.119] (HELO gmail.com)

by fe3.dc.edu (CommuniGate Pro SMTP 4.1.8)

with ESMTTP-TLS id 61258719 for info@deltoramagazine.ptr; 17 Sep 2018 15:40:36 -0400

Message-ID: <4129F3CA.2020509@dc.edu>

Date: 17 Sep 2018 15:40:36 -0400

From: Jonh Dove <Johndove6@gmail.com>>

User-Agent: Mozilla/5.0 (Windows; U; Windows NT 5.1; en-US; rv:1.0.1) Gecko/20020823
Netscape/7.0

X-Accept-Language: en-us, en

MIME-Version: 1.0

To: info@deltoramagazine.ptr

Subject: Information

Content-Type: text/plain; charset=us-ascii; format=flowed

Content-Transfer-Encoding: 7bit

Hi all,

I'm not sure whether this will help the investigation, but I felt like you had to know.

A couple of months ago I met someone of the ministry of environmental affairs at a conference. After the evening programme we grabbed a drink together and this person shared some interesting facts.

(S)he had heard that the petrochemical industry used influencers to gain power in the government. It wasn't clear how this was done, but my interest was triggered. I spoke to this person again last week. This time things were said about the money flow, (s)he told me that a lot of money was being invested, by foreign investors, in the Roile harbour.

(S)he didn't know about any deals between the government and these investors, but he felt like there should be some kind of deal.

Best,

John Dove
